FARM FRESH PRODUCE

LOCALFARMLINK.COM

Encourage consumers to buy locally by posting what is fresh at your farm on-line.

There is a movement supporting locally grown produce. As people become more environmentally conscious and more concerned about their personal health, the need to source locally grown foods becomes more important. localfarmlink.com will level the playing field with large grocer's weekly flyers. Shoppers will now be able to search on-line for what is available locally and plan to buy local when they make their weekly shopping list.

- ✓ Easy and fast to use. After registering it takes less than 5 minutes, at least once a week to keep your on-line produce up to date.
- ✓ You receive one dedicated page for your farm with your address and other contact information.
- ✓ A sign post on the mapping system makes it easy for customers to find your farm.
- ✓ It's free and will always be free.
- ✓ If you sell from your farm, at a market, phone sales or to restaurants place these details on your farm's page.

This site will help farms sell more produce at better prices.
